Built in 1850 as an imperial military riding school under Emperor Franz Josef I, the neoclassical building offers today every imaginable comfort. Where the horse stables were located in former times, there are today the lobby and the reception. The hotel is ideally located in the diplomatic district of Vienna, close to the baroque Belvedere Palace. The city centre and the “Ringstrasse” are within easy walking distance.

All spacious guest rooms and business suites offer the perfect atmosphere for both concentrated work and undisturbed relaxation. The modern conference centre including 13 air-conditioned meeting rooms, all with natural daylight and equipped with state-of-the-art technical equipment, offer the perfect ambience for meetings, conferences and banquets.

A very special highlight is the 2,000 m<sup>2</sup> lush green Renaissance Garden Club. The main attraction between May and September is the City Barbecue in the generous garden area. The Renaissance Garden Club directly adjoins the beautiful winter garden of the restaurant “Borromaeus” with view over the garden of the hotel.
